SCHOOL ISSUE
IN HOMER TWP.
STUDIED AGAIN

About fifty directors and patrons of Homer township schools met in Homer town hall Monday evening to discuss the feasibility of forming a community consolidated school district for the eight districts which now are organized separately.

Every district was represented at this meeting and Superintendent Bottino was present to help in the discussion. The meeting was called to order by Robert Murphy of the Soterman district, who stated the purpose of the gathering, told of the crowded condition of his district which calls for some immediate action and asked that a chairman be appointed. Wrey White was selected for this post and later was made permanent chairman of a committee to gather statistics, costs, and all details possible concerning the proposed consolidation.

The committee consists of one man selected from each district as follows: Barney Weiler, district 135 known as Goodings Grove school; Ross Larson, district 134, the Soterman school; Charles Trantina, district 133, Harrington school; Walter Kolar, district 131, Wells Corner school; George Bump, Jr., district 130, Ross school; Russell Lauffer, district 129, Bradley school; and George Hutchinson, district 127, of the Barnett school.

These men met again Thursday evening in the Wrey White home and again Saturday morning in Joliet in Superintendent Bottino's office.

KATHERINE MARX DIED IN ORLAND

Death came to Mrs. Katherine Marx, late of Mokena, in her home in Orland township, Thursday, December 8 after an illness of four years.

Mrs. Marx was born July 25, 1886 in Upper Sandusky, Ohio. When her parents moved to Cement City, Mich., in 1900 where her father was engaged in the cement business, she moved with them. There it was she met Paul W. Marx and July 21, 1907 they were united in marriage. They made their home in Cement City as Mrs. Marx also was engaged in the cement business.

They moved to Chicago in 1916 where Mr. Marx was engaged in the building business and in 1937 they moved to Orland township, building a home on Wolf road, just south of 167th street. Two years ago they moved to the village of Mokena after selling their home and last June they moved into the apartment building on the Clarence E. Bagley property on 94th avenue, where Mrs. Marx passed away. She was a patient sufferer having an incurable throat ailment. She is survived by her husband, a sister, Mrs. Thomas Hefflin, Chenoa, Ill. and a brother, Charles Metts in New Mexico.

Funeral services were held Saturday, December 10 in the Orland Park Methodist church with the pastor Rev. Henry E. Rompel officiating. Burial was in Orland Park Memorial cemetery.

Marie Lockhart And Edward Townsend
Married in New Lenox Methodist Church

Rev. Ralph L. Miller, pastor of the New Lenox Methodist church officiated at the double ring wedding ceremony of Miss Violet Marie Lockhart and Mr. Edward Townsend, performed in that church Saturday afternoon, December 10 at four o'clock. It was a candle light service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lockhart, 217 Wisconsin road, New Lenox and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Townsend of Wilton Center.

White 'Mums, pompoms flanked by white tapers in tall branched candelabra and palms decorated the altar. Mrs. Hiram Converse, soloist, sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." Mrs. Howard Ayres was the pianist.

The bride wore a floor length white satin gown, fashioned with a high neckline, tight fitting bodice with small buttons down the back, and a full skirt ending in a train. Her finger tip veil trimmed with three rows of lace hung from a seed pearl tiara. She carried a small cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid and wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. Mr. Lockhart gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Layton Spencer of Joliet, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of aqua satin styled similar to that of the bride with elbow length gloves and matching satin headpiece. Her cascade bouquet was of pink roses tied with satin streamers.

New Lumber Yard in Prospect for Mokena
Will Cost $70,000

At the meeting of the Mokena village board Tuesday evening, December 6, Walter Welch of Joliet was present to seek a permit to build a new lumber yard in Mokena.

The yard and office is planned to be 240 feet long and located where what was a small village park, between the Rock Island tracks and McGovney street, facing on Wolf road. Mr. Welch stated his plans include a $70,000 investment. The plans call for a switch track which will be used by the new lumber yards and the wallpaper company.

The land in question belongs to the Rock Island and it is planned to lease it for 10 years.

Other business which is of great importance to Mokena was discussed by the Board; that of abusing the new Rock Island depot. It seems there are six or seven little girls, about 10 years of age, who meet the 620 train from Chicago in the evenings. Among their destructive deeds are: spilling water on the floor, tearing the plastic paper from the wall, which cost $20 a roll and riding on their bicycles on the depot platform, which the Rock Island has forbidden, because of the danger from passing trains.

The village authorities state that when these children are approached, they are sassy. The village authorities state that we have a nice depot in Mokena and it is their aim to keep it so, that if the parents of these children cannot control them, the village fathers will.

New Lenox Garage Man Caught in Wreck

Frank Schroeder, proprietor of the Schroeder Motor Sales, North Cedar road, New Lenox, narrowly escaped death last Tuesday evening in a peculiar accident.

He and L. D. Lee, answering a call from an auto in trouble, were proceeding on the black top Mokena road with their wrecker, when all of a sudden the front end of the wrecker buckled-up, catching and throwing Mr. Schroeder. Mr. Lee was able to give assistance to the injured man who was taken to Manhattan for first aid.

He had received a deep gash beneath his left eye which required several stitches; his arm and body were badly bruised and swollen. He is at home and improving slowly. Just what caused the wrecker to buckle is not known, but it is thought, being dark, perhaps they struck a hole in the road which might have caught a part of the wrecker, and cause the accident.

It was reported that jewelry was taken from the Sterling Highley home which included a gold watch of Swiss make; a Dapelle wrist watch, German make; Dapelle wrist watch, American make; mother of pearl necklace; silver antique necklace; hammered silver bracelet; six ladies rings and a pair of men's brown trousers.

William Highley disclaimed any knowledge of the theft, when questioned by his family. Last Friday one of the missing rings were found in his home, but he stated the ring belonged to him and he refused to return it.

When the deputies questioned William in his home he said the ring belonged to a girl friend, when questioned, the girl friend denied ever having a date with the youth. When further questioned, the youth admitted he had chiseled the initials "L. R." out of the ring. The ring was identified by Sterling as belonging to his wife, who came to this country from Germany as a war bride about two years ago.

It has been reported that numerous thefts have been made in the locality during the past year or two.

Mokena Community
Christmas Tree
Finally Lighted?

By THE OFFICE BOY

Well six, the Christmas tree on the Rock Island property finally got tired of lying down and stood up -- the whole 30 feet of it Saturday afternoon.

But Sunday night after the rain the wind came and blew and blew and the tree waned and staggered in the breeze until after a while it was listing over like a ship with a torpedo hole in it.

Around about ten o'clock a gang of men were out there fussing around, tying ropes and doing other things until Mr. Christmas tree was standing up straight again.

But what I started to say was, when I saw the men out there, I thought they were starting to put lights on it, and I went over to Mr. Morris Larson, who seems to be the chairman of the decorating committee and asked him "what color lights are you going to use, Mr. Chairman?" He says, "run along sunny, we've first got to get this tree to stand--then we'll think about lights." I answered "maybe you'll get them on by New Year's day?" Then I started to run because I didn't know how he'd take it, and a man from Joliet who was helping them made with a big guffaw.

Anyway, I thought this Christmas tree decorating business was getting pretty serious, with Christmas creeping up on us. So Monday night I started to investigate the situation more.

I mooched around Monday evening and pretty soon I came upon four people working their heads off wrapping packages to help decorate the tree. No I guess it was only three. There was George Kreml and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kurnet of New Lenox wrapping away. Mr. Larson was there too, but he just stood there with one hand on his hip and watched.

I said, "I know how you could get those packages wrapped much faster" and Morry said, "How?" I said, "if you would be a working foreman instead of an executive" and he told me to run along and mind my own business--or words to that effect.

But it looks now as if they are only waiting for Walter Schoenbeck to string up the lights and we'll have our community Christmas tree.

C. U. Later.

P. S.: I've been thinking that maybe if it weren't for Mr. and Mrs. Kurnet helping out on Mokena's tree, maybe we wouldn't have had it before New Year's. That's a fine neighborly gesture on their part. But if the tree lights are on before you read this--don't read this article for it would all sound kind of silly wouldn't it?

Illinois Farm Bureau Opposes Brannan Program

Illinois farmers are demanding a long range, flexible farm price support program, according to resolutions adopted at the 35th annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Association held recently in Chicago.

They voiced their opposition to the Brannan plan in other resolutions approved by 500 voting delegates to the convention which attracted 5,500 farmers and their families.

The delegates also asked for an increase in the state gas tax provided a fair share of the money is allocated for use on township and road district roads; urged keeping headquarters of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Chicago instead of moving it to Washington.

In other actions, the IAA pledged support of the Gateway amendment, designed to make it easier to amend the state constitution; urged that a bi-partisan commission be appointed to manage the Illinois state fair; called for more efficient and economical administration of the Federal government; and reaffirmed support of the extension program.

The delegates also approved resolutions urging annual inspection of motor cars as a highway safety measure; opposed any increase in the maximum weight limits for trucks or busses; suggested more high schools sponsor driver training courses; asked that anti-trust laws be applied equally to all monopolistic practices whether in industry or labor unions; and approved decentralization of administration of soil conservation and agricultural adjustment programs.

Other resolutions called for curbs on attempts by the executive branch of the federal government to shape farm policy; urged that wool prices be supported by a loan program as are other storable commodities, rather than by a direct purchase program; and recommended that if acreage allotments are put in force, that more emphasis be put on good land use rather than on past crop acreage.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, one of the main convention speakers, told the farmers he will go on asking for a gas tax increase "until we get it, or the people get a new governor."

A gas tax raise is needed, he said, because the hard roads are "all wearing out at the same time" and present income is "entirely inadequate" to make improvements.

All kinds of Automobile Repairing

By Dorothy Boys Kilian

IT WAS Christmas Eve but the group of people sitting on the floor in the Reeds' living-room certainly weren't in a festive mood.

"Doggonitt," Dad exclaimed as he stared gloomily at the shiny tracks and the motionless cars of a new electric train. "What's wrong with this thing anyway?"

"We've put it together exactly according to directions, I'm sure we have," fifteen-year-old Rick insisted.

"Well, something's got to be done," said Mom, looking in from the kitchen where she was stuffing the turkey. "Little Jackie's been praying for that train for months, and how'll he feel tomorrow morning if the thing won't run?"

"Maybe Ralph can help. He's coming by for me in a few minutes, you know," said Wilma, the pretty big sister of the family.

"Oh, him!" Rick was scornful. "That guy from the big city with his socks and ties and handker-

He picked up the shiny black engine carefully and turned it over and over. He put it up to eye level and peered into its workings.

chiefs that match! What does he know about motors?"

"Rick!" Mom reproved. "Oh, I know you all think of him as an outsider," Wilma said. "If you only really knew him better! Mom, I do wish you'd let me ask him to breakfast tomorrow."

"I'm sorry dear, but I just don't think he'd fit in."

The doorbell rang. Wilma answered it and she and Ralph exchanged happy hellos.

Rick immediately threw out the challenge to the tall, blond, well-dressed young man. "We can't make this train go. Can you tell what's wrong with it?"

"Maybe," Ralph said quietly. "I used to have a train something like this."

"Look out, that cotton batting stuff will stick to your trousers," Dad warned.

"That's snow, and the snow around here is clean."

Dad looked slightly startled.

Wilma smiled. She remembered how impressed Ralph had been by the whiteness of the drifts even on Main street last night.

"The flakes are practically sooty before they even reach the ground in Chicago," he had said.

"Tracks are O.K.," Ralph straightened up. Then he picked up the shiny black engine carefully and turned it over and over. He put it up to eye level and peered into its workings.

"The professional touch!" Rick muttered.

"There may be oil in the commutator," Ralph said. "That sometimes happens with a new engine. I'll see if I can get it out."

"I'll get you a rag, Ralph, just a minute," Wilma got up and started for the kitchen.

"Never mind, this'll do," Ralph answered, pulling his perfectly folded wine-colored handkerchief out of his jacket pocket.

He worked quietly for a moment, gently poking the corner of the handkerchief into the inside of the engine. Then he set the engine carefully down on the track and said, "Turn on the juice, will you Rick?"

Rick meekly moved forward the black lever at the transformer. There was a whirring sound, the wheels began to move, and the little puffer-billy whizzed and clacked around the curve.

"Praises be!" Dad heaved a loud sigh of relief.

Ralph quietly got up from the floor and turned to Wilma. "Maybe we'd better go now, if we want to catch the gang."

"Alright, Ralph," Wilma said. Her eyes turned pleadingly to Mrs. Reed. "Mom—"

"Oh, yes, Wilma," Mom interrupted. Turning to Ralph she said heartily, "In all the excitement we almost forgot to ask you to be sure to come over for late breakfast with us tomorrow. It's just a simple family affair, but we surely would like to have you with us."

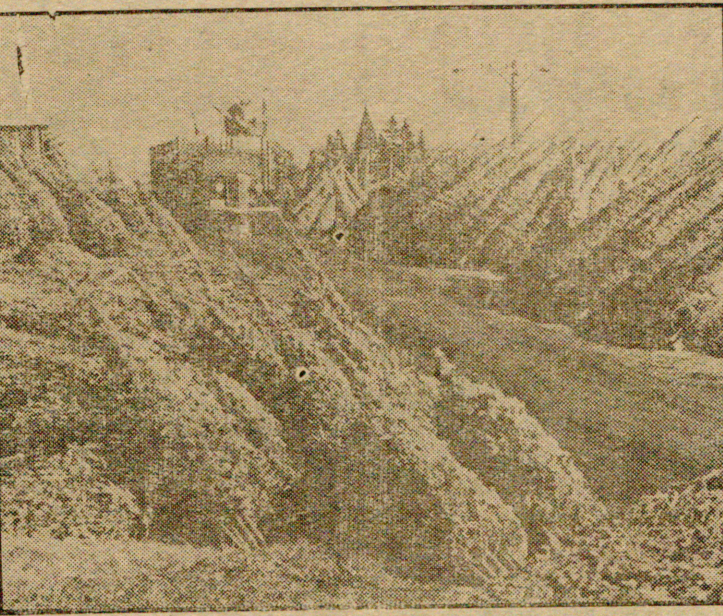

"You bet." Dad's eyes twinkled. "Something might go wrong with it again and we'd feel safer with you around to fix it."

Fire Warnings

The Greater Chicago Safety Council issued today a special bulletin designed to point out some of the common fire hazards attendant on the Christmas season. Joseph F. Stech, manager of the Council, states in the bulletin:

"Our stores and public buildings, many industries, churches, schools and clubs put on their fanciest trimmings for the holiday season. Window and counter displays, paper decorations around and between pillars are used to add to the festive spirit. Trick lighting arrangements, spotlight and centers of interest and a carefree throng of people jam their way through crowded aisles.

"It all adds up to the greatest fire hazard of the year. Any store owner should take the necessary steps for the protection of his customers, clerks, stock and business. The council suggests:

Post "No Smoking" signs in strategic spots. Enforce it among your own employees and don't hesitate to ask compliance of the public. Stopping smoking by customers may also prevent claims for damages to coats, dresses, or even to persons.

Use discretion in putting up decorations. Keep all light paper streamers or ribbons away from lights, heating pipes, or locations where they would come in contact with lighted cigars or cigarettes. In spot electrically lighted display signs daily for defective wiring.

Don't let discarded wrappings and trash accumulate behind counters and allow no smoking in store rooms and basements where approximate half of all store fires start. See that all employees know where exits (plainly marked for customers) are located and where the fire extinguishers are placed.

Is God Available?

Lesson for December 18, 1949

DOES GOD EXIST? Yes. There is every good reason to believe that he does. But when we have answered that question in the affirmative, we have not settled the most important questions of religion. There are the other two questions of equal importance: What kind of God is he? and, Is he available? Let us give some thought to this last question. One of our Christmas carols begins, Dr. Foreman

"Draw nigh, draw nigh, Immanuel!" Immanuel is one of the names by which Jesus is called, for the Christian church has always read Isaiah 7:14 as a prophecy of Jesus Christ. The name means "God with us" and is the answer to the deepest cry of the heart.

God in heaven far away, God the Creator who set in motion this mighty universe, God the All-powerful ruling beyond the stars, God the Eternal who knows neither youth nor age.

Such a God has sometimes been believed in by men who nevertheless walked in a dark cloud of loneliness, doubting that so great a God could possibly have any interest in their own affairs.

Is God WITH us? Is God with US? Is GOD with us? That is the question that torments the troubled mind. With one voice, the whole church of God answers Yes; the name of the one in whose face we see the glory of God is named "God-with-us."

In the first chapter of the Bible we hear of a God who walked with his children in a garden. In the first chapters of the Gospels we hear songs to the God who has "visited his people;" and in almost the last chapter of the Bible we hear the promise, "God himself shall be with them and be their God."

"When ye shall search for him with all your hearts"

MOST TRUTHS are two-sided. You have to keep both sides in mind or you will not fully understand. God is with us yes; God is with all men, yes—that is, there are no favorites with him, he refuses his presence to no one. God is always available, available to all. That is one side of the truth.

The other side is this: God is not equally with all men. Some men are alienated from God. Some men are godless. Even among those with whom God lives, we may fairly say that God is with some in a higher degree, in fuller measure, than he is with others. Jeremiah gives the clue to this truth: "Ye shall seek me and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart." (Jer. 29:13.) Those who do not search for God will not find him.

Those whose search is half-hearted only half-find him. God does not enter uninvited. He is available, but he will not force his way in. We can see how this is when we think about Christians we know. It does not make sense to say that they are all equally godly.

We have known some great Christians of whom we might almost dare to say that Paul's prayer had been answered, that they have been "filled with the fullness of God." (Eph. 3:19.) But in other Christians, who certainly have some small seed of faith in them, it may be hard even for a kindly observer to see many signs of God's presence.

"Thou can't, a little baby thing..."

GOD IS in all things, "he shines in all that's fair," as we sing the familiar hymn. But the center of the Christian faith is that God comes to man especially and most closely in Jesus Christ.

No matter how strongly men believed in God in olden times, always they looked forward, as the prophets show, to a time when God would come nearer than he had been before. True, it was a surprise when finally he came to Bethlehem, "a little baby thing that made a woman cry."

A world accustomed to kings in purple robes, in well-guarded castles, was surprised that the King of the Universe would be found as a child among the poor. But after all, which better represents the All-Available God—a king behind his palace walls, or a child in a home that loves him?

Speed Work on 4H State Dining Hall

Mild winter weather to date has speeded work on the new combination dining hall—kitchen building now being built at the State 4H Memorial camp at Allerton Park west of Monticello.

F. H. Mynard, state 4H agricultural club staff member and chairman of the camp fund raising committee, in reporting on the progress of the camp, says that the new building will be ready to use next spring.

Three sides of the dining hall and three sides of the kitchen are now up and sheathing is being put on the outside. Heavy girders are on order to support the large, shed-type roof and completion of the front side of the building and the roof will have to wait until the girders are in place.

Concrete work has been completed on the spillway for the new dam and lake west of the dining hall—kitchen building. B. F. Muirhead, agricultural engineer at the Illinois College of Agriculture who has been in charge of the construction of the dam, has accepted and approved the concrete work, and the damsite is now ready for the earth work to start next summer. A new well and wellhouse have been constructed on the campsite also, and are now ready to pump water as soon as electric power is connected. A new cookhouse has also been built next to the workshop building.

Mynard says that work on the camp is coming along according to schedule, but construction on the building will continue according to how fast donated funds are received.

A Young Republican Announces Candidacy

John M. King of Wheaton on Saturday, December 10 announced his candidacy for State Representative from the 41st district of Illinois consisting of Will and DuPage Counties.

King, a life-long resident of Wheaton, is one of the youngest men to enter politics in this area for a number of years. He has a broad background of civic and political activity throughout this area in the state and even nationally.

A booster for many years of the idea that youth must take an active part in politics, King set an example himself by becoming national chairman of the Young Republican College clubs during his years at Northwestern University. Under his administration 124 new college Republican clubs were formed throughout the nation, 17 of them in Illinois.

He was the organizer and chairman of the DuPage County Young Republican and as District Governor formed the Kane and McHenry County Young Republican groups. Later he served on the state and national Young Republican Boards and was a member of the Executive Committee of the Young Republican National Federation, during which time he traveled over 28,000 miles throughout the United States encouraging the activity of youth in the Republican party.

During these periods he maintained activity in the Senior Republican organization as a precinct worker and attended the 1946 and 1948 Republican State conventions as a delegate. In 1948 he also attended the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia as an assistant to the National chairman.

King's activity in politics are eclipsed however by long record of civic work. He has served for several years as secretary for the Wheaton Community Chest, has been chairman of the DuPage County Heart Association, administrative assistant to the Red Cross drive in Chicago, Vice president of the Wheaton Junior Chamber of Commerce, and State Director of the Illinois Junior Chamber, is a mason and a member of the Methodist church.

His early interest in legislative work led to his participation in several state legislative study committees which explored the procedures of the Illinois law-making bodies. This gave practical application to his previous education in the fields of political science and business administration.

Until recently an assistant buyer at Sears Roebuck & Co., King resigned to work for several months with the National Citizens Board for the Hoover Reports and is a member of their National Board has coordinated its activities with those of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is national Vice-chairman of the Hoover Committee of the U. S. Junior Chamber.

For his work in this field, former President Herbert Hoover and recently the chairman of the Hoover Commission personally commended King for his outstanding contributions to the program.

His efforts have taken him into fifteen eastern and mid-western states speaking before a large number of organizations on the findings and recommendations of the Commission.

King's nomination and election to the State Legislature will bring a young dynamic new personality into Illinois state politics and will be an even more concrete example of what youth can do having the desire to work and the will to succeed.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now Hospitals Are "Banks," Too!

Doc Simpson was saying, "Hospitals are building up 'bone banks' that work just like blood banks. When bone is needed, the surgeon takes one from a refrigerator, cuts it to the right shape and simply splices it in."

"You doctors are sure making progress," I says, "but tell me, are any of the patients fussy about whose bone they're getting?"

"No sir!" replies Doc. "No more than they worry about whose blood they get. No one yet asked for a bone from a man who went to the same school or church he did."

From where I sit, it would be a better world if we were half as willing to accept other people's ideas and tastes, as we seem to be willing to accept their bone and blood. There'll always be differences. Some like buttermilk, others would rather have a sparkling glass of temperate beer. But underneath we're pretty much the same - deserving each other's respect and tolerance!

Correct Roasting Makes Tasty Bird

Correct roasting is slow cooking by dry heat on a rack in an open pan. It needs no water, no basting and no cover.

With the supply of chickens plentiful, and the holiday turkey dinner ahead, you'll want to know true roasting techniques to get a tasty and juicy bird.

"Many people overcook turkey or chicken," says Miss Frances Cook, foods specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Follow true roasting techniques, careful timing and correct "doneness tests" and you'll have more servings of juicier, evenly browned meat.

A shallow open pan is recommended for roasting. It allows the heat to circulate around the bird, roasting it evenly. A rack at least 1-2 inch high raises the bird off the bottom of the pan, keeping it out of the juices.

Don't use a fork to test for doneness, Miss Cook says. It is not a reliable test and juices escape from the meat. To make the test for doneness, take hold of the drumstick or wing, protecting your fingers with a cloth or paper. If it moves easily, it is done. Or press the thickest part of the drumstick with the fingers. When the meat feels quite soft, it is done.

If you use a meat thermometer, you'll be able to tell exactly when the bird is completely roasted. Insert the thermometer into the thigh muscle (for turkeys and larger birds) and cook until the thermometer registers 190 F. Or place the bulb of the thermometer in the center of the dressing (for chickens and smaller birds) and cook to 180-185 F.

A Timetable for Roasting Young Birds by Miss Cook is available from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. It is in handy card-form and is sent free upon request.

Up Goes a Giant Christmas Tree!

From Forest . . . Up Seven Stories . . . To Christmas Finery!

CHICAGO—Each year hundreds of thousands of persons come to see the giant, 50-foot Christmas tree now on the seventh floor of Marshall Field & Company here.

And each year, amid the "ohs" and "ahs," there comes the question—"Wonder where this tree came from and how they got it up here?"

The answer is the same story of "putting up the tree" that takes place in every American home during the holidays, but with some big differences. Field's tree is the perfect top of a 100-foot fir, weighing more than a ton. It travels nearly 500 miles from the North Woods to Chicago's State Street. It is decorated, around Thanksgiving time, with some 3,000 ornaments, all designed king-sized to be in scale with the giant tree.

First step in this particular "putting up the tree" comes when the department store sends a display man to Mellen, Wis., to select a tree. This happens almost three months before Christmas. Once the tree is chosen, it must be made ready for the long trip to Christmas glory. The tree is cut and lowered to the ground, not felled. The top 50 feet are bound in wire and carted to a railroad siding.

In Chicago, the tree moves from freight yards to the store by truck. It is hoisted seven stories up and moved into a tearoom, where it will stand until Christmas.

Surrounded by scaffolding, the tree is decorated over a weekend, each ornament placed according to a decorator's sketch.

Thus, after weeks of work and preparation, the tree that has been called the largest and perhaps the most gaily decorated indoor tree in America is ready for the young and old who throng to see its tinsel and glitter.

group enjoyed a Christmas gift exchange. Luncheon was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Gordon Powell in Orland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Tollerud left for their home in Florida Thursday after spending a few weeks in their son Elmer's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tollerud and daughter Gail were dinner guests Monday night in the Ed. Dunham home in Mokena.

The Marley Woman's club met in the Marley church Friday for their annual pot luck Christmas dinner party. Dinner was served at noon from a long table centered with a sparkling Christmas tree. A sled favor marked each guest's place.

After the dinner secret pals were revealed with gifts and before each member received her gift she had to do a performance of some kind. Mrs. Julian Gorham spoke the "Night Before Christmas"; Mrs. Royal Corp and Mrs. John Riley sang "Jingle Bells". Eight of the ladies were reindeer who were driven by Santa Claus, Mrs. Adella Sproat, as they sang "Santa Claus is Coming to Town." Mrs. Charles Sievert told of a Christmas she'll always remember and there were several other merry stunts.

The program presented by Mrs. Walter Haas and Mrs. Everett Bell opened with a group of Christmas carols. Mrs. Edward Sproat reviewed the article, "The Star of Hope Still Rises", Mrs. Julian Gorham talked on "Greeting Cards." The scripture was read by Mrs. Haas. A Christmas game, "Unravel the Christmas Stocking", was played. Mrs. William Bingham received the prize.

The hostesses for January will be Mrs. Alfred Sproat and Mrs. Edward Sproat.

December 12, 1949

The last regular meeting Dec. 8, was an open meeting. Final arrangements were made for our annual Christmas party to be held Saturday evening, December 17, 8 p.m. Hatch hall. The Ladies Auxiliary will serve eats and entertainment. All Post and Auxiliary members who have children that will take part in the program are asked to contact Mrs. Alma Peterson. There will be a 50c gift exchange for men and women and a 50c gift for your children with their name on it. Santa Claus will make his appearance with gifts. All Post and Auxiliary members and their friends are invited. Also at the last meeting the Finance Committee made a report as well as the Building Committee.

All who were at the meeting received more than their daily minimum requirement of "Iodine and Calcium etc." Commander Saarela has noted recently that most members were deficient of the above essential elements, so to correct the situation he comes up with an electric roaster containing oysters.

Again reporting on our new building, we can state much progress has been made during the past two weeks. We can tell you that by the middle of January it will be usable for meetings "and other functions."

The next regular meeting will be on Thursday evening Dec. 22nd. Hatch hall, 8 p.m.

Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098

Veterans living in this area with service connected disabilities are reminded by the Illinois Veterans commission that home medical care at government expense is available only when such treatment has been authorized.

Many veterans have applied for reimbursement for treatment by their own physicians or hospitals without having been granted approval beforehand. Except in those cases where it is found to be an emergency, treatment for a service connected disability, claims for refund may be disallowed.

Even in emergency cases prior approval is required. In the event a disabled veteran with service connection is hospitalized a request for approval must be made within 72 hours. Those desiring emergency treatment on an out-patient basis must make a request in writing within 15 days after treatment is begun.

Service officers of the IVC are familiar with the procedure for obtaining approval and veterans should utilize this service to avoid unnecessary delays that may occur if an application is not filed properly. Questions concerning this benefit should be directed to the IVC service officer of Will County located at 12 W. Webster St., Joliet, Ill.

All you legionnaires of the Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098 don't forget the Christmas party coming up later this month. Watch for the Date in this column.

Indian Relics

The American Indians, before the coming of the white man, were Stone Age people. Theirs was a hand culture, employing tools of stone, bone, shell and wood. Certain tribes used copper found near Lake Superior and elsewhere, but no Indian had learned to use metals like bronze and iron. Others had learned to weave and made baskets or clothing out of plant materials. Most tribes made pottery; moulding and baking vessels of clay tempered with sand, powdered rock or shell; some crude; some very good. They had learned to farm and had domesticated many useful plants such as corn, beans, squash and tobacco, but they had not discovered the wheel, nor the plow, and the dog was their only domestic animal. Some tribes, like the Sioux of the great plains, were wandering hunters depending upon the buffalo for food and clothing.

In the making of weapons, tools and ornaments, the Indians were remarkably ingenious, skillful and patient. They discovered that brittle stone like flint or chert, which had no "grain" or planes along which it would split, could be cracked with a cobblestone hammer into flat pieces or slivers. Then these could be flaked off into desired shapes, with sharp edges or saw teeth if needed. They discovered that such stone worked better when freshly dug, so they buried what was not immediately used, to keep it "green". From creek beds and lake shores, from rock ledges and caves or from limestone beds which they quarried—using cobblestones as hammers and the antlers of deer or elk as picks—the Indians obtained scrapers, chisels and drills, using tools of stone, bone, wood and leather.

Tomahawks, axes, mauls, celts (chisels), gouges for shaping wood, and mortars with pestles for grinding corn, acorns and seeds, were usually made from cobblestones of granite or similar material having the proper density and toughness. These were roughly shaped by knocking off "spalls" with a stone hammer. The final shape was obtained by pecking over the entire surface with smaller tools. Finally, the tool marks were ground away with a gritty rock like sandstone, and the surface polished with a softer fine-grained stone.

Pebbles were grooved for weights on fishing nets; or chipped, ground polished and drilled to serve as ornaments. Smoking pipes were sculptured from stone, or moulded out of clay and baked. Antlers and other bones were used for picks, mallets, scrapers, drills, awls, needles and fishhooks. Shells were used for hoes, to scrape wood or hides, to scale fish, and to make beads for ornament. Porcupine quills were used lavishly to ornament ceremonial garments, pipe stems, arm bands and pouches.

Bows, arrow shafts, war clubs and throwing sticks were made of wood; as were their drums. Many implements, and boats or "dug-outs", were made of wood. The graceful canoe had a light frame work of wood covered with skins or birch bark. Root and bark fibers were used for baskets, weaving and fish nets. Deer sinews were used for thread and lashings. Almost every plant had some use, such as for food, medicine, dye, clothing, shelter, utensil or implement.

The articles they made of wood, bark, leather, and other plant and animal materials, have decayed and disappeared. Only their tools of stone and fragments of pottery—called "artifacts"—remain. Nothing brings home the reality of these original Americans more vividly than to find a specimen or a fragment of their handiwork.

'Twas a simpler life, and perhaps a happier one.
